WHY COME? Top 5 of many reasons...

Start the talks before they can walk!

- 1. Because it makes it easier for them and for you to continue to scaffold information developmentally as they grow.
- 2. Studies show that developmentally appropriate sexuality education delays sexual activity.
- 3. Not surprisingly, a girl who has a secure, supportive, communicative relationship with her father is less likely to get pregnant as a teenager and less likely to become sexually active in her early teens.
- 4. Leading psychotherapist and author Dr Susie Orbach says: "The more a dad is involved in a hands-on way, from when she is a baby and a toddler, the more he will know her – and puberty and adolescence will be just one more phase like starting school. The less he is involved, the more he will be cautious around her and her body."
- 5. Research shows that children of parents who talk about sex positively and acknowledge the pleasures instead of giving negative messages, are more likely to wait until later to have sex.

This workshop will help dads know what is developmentally appropriate for the birth-8 years, how to talk about bodies, boundaries and get prepared for the jaw dropping questions that come when you are least ready. SO, come get prepared and have fun doing it! Join Jennifer Wiessner, local mom, wife, LCSW and AASECT certified Sex Therapist for these very popular workshops to get in the know!
